

The Difference Between LipoLaser and the rest...

|                   | LipoLaser(No Surgery)                                                                                         | Laser Liposuction(Like SonoBello or Smart Lipo)                                                                  | Liposuction(Traditional Surgery)                                                                                             | Lap-Band(Traditional Surgery)                                                                                                             |
|-------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                   |                                         |                                           |                                                      |                                                                   |
| Use of Anesthesia | No Anesthesia                                                                                                     | General or Local Anesthesia                                                                                                 | General or Local Anesthesia                                                                                                             | General Anesthesia                                                                                                                                   |
| Risk              | No Risk                                                                                                           | Same as traditional liposuction, but can also include friction burns, damage to the skin and nerves, damage to vital organs | Bleeding, swelling, rapid heart rate from anesthesia, infection, fat or blood clots... clots can migrate to the lungs and lead to death | Same risks as any major surgery, such as death, also tears in the stomach wall, risks from the medications, nausea, vomiting, constipation, diarrhea |
| Recovery Time     | No Recovery Time                                                                                                  | Outpatient with recovery days                                                                                               | Outpatient with recovery days                                                                                                           | Inpatient hospital stay 3 to 5 days                                                                                                                  |
| Fine Print        | You have to do your part by utilizing the easy to follow diet, taking the supplements, drinking the water and doing WBV. | The fat cells in the area are permanently removed, so when you gain weight back, you gain it in strange new places.         | Again, the fat cells in the area are permanently removed, so when you gain weight back, you gain it in strange new places.              | The band can spontaneously deflate because of leakage. You can also suffer with an irritated stomach, heartburn, bloating and gas.                   |
| Prices            | Ask about our special introductory offer!                                                                         | $4,000 to $6,000 for the first area, $2,000 to $3,000 for each additional area.                           | $10,000 to $20,000 for the first area and $2,000 to $7,500 for each additional area.                                  | $11,000 to $16,000 plus the costs of follow-up visits.                                                                                      |

In short – There's no health risk, no recovery time and it's cheaper!!!!