So Who is a Candidate for this Procedure?

The literature on decompression says that it provides relief for:

- Degenerative Discs
- Herniated Discs
- General Lower Back Pain
- Failed Back Surgery
- Sciatica

A question you would probably like to ask me is if all of this treatment is so amazing and has helped so many people...

Why Have I Slashed My Prices?

Well, I was one of the doctors that was charging more for this, and I'll tell you why. A lot of money is spent on research and development for these amazing breakthroughs in spinal decompression, laser treatments and all of the other treatments we offer. That makes the purchase price high on this amazing equipment I have had to purchase in order to offer this comprehensive pain relieving package...it's very expensive!

But recently, I paid the LAST lease payment on some of this equipment. So I am passing the savings onto you. Sure I may have to buy more equipment in the future, but until that happens, I am going to pass the savings right along to you! I'll save you the price-shopping phone call to my office.

First of all, this is NOT covered by insurance. The price for the entire treatment program isn't between $4,000 and $16,000. The price for your entire "Personalized Pain Relief Program" is only $2997. Yes, that's right, that isn't a typo. After you have done your homework, you'll know this is an incredible price for state-of-the art equipment and personalized, pain relieving treatment and attention like you've never received before! And if that price wasn't great enough, we even have monthly payments and financing options available for you too!

Yes, I believe at my office you'll get the best price and the best possible care available! I will personally see to it!

For years, only professional athletes have had access to these state-of-the-art treatment therapies that allow them to heal more quickly and more completely.

Finally...

These Breakthrough Treatments are Available to Anyone Who Wants Them!

Some people have referred to this treatment protocol as "magic"... but this is all based on science, and done in a very comprehensive manner, which includes multiple therapies.

One of the therapies in the breakthrough treatment protocol is a LASER which has been shown to accelerate pain relief and tissue healing in numerous studies and has been cleared by the FDA for use in clinical practices.

This particular laser therapy works by stimulating the internal healing on the cellular level. During a treatment, light penetrates six to eight inches below the skin's surface. Energy from the laser promotes the production of cellular ATP (Adenosine Tri-phosphate). Think of ATP as a fuel that cells need to heal. Laser therapy brings this fuel source straight to the cells!

Combining this breakthrough laser technology, with other state-of-the art therapies, has shown to knock out knee pain once and for all!
